WANTED

An active energetic man to represent us as

Agent in This City.

Address Wasmaker & Brown, Philadelphia.

The largest Retail Clothing House in America.

ALL NORTH.

—Attention is called to the advertisement of the Sheriff's Sale of Avery's saloon which takes place next Saturday.

—It may be a little early for the political pot to boil yet, but its high time the old thing was scoured out and the fire kindled.

—State Superintendent of Public Instruction, Dovey, leaves tonight for the Teachers' National Convention, and will be absent about fifteen days.

—Some theatrical people who ordered some Roderer at a Reno hotel a few nights ago, were taken violently sick. Must have been a bogus brand.

—Miss Mollie Leete, of this city, and Annie and Mary Loid, of Brunswick, left last night for San Francisco to attend the Teachers' National Convention.

—Capt. Wright desires the members of the Carson Guards to report at the range today to shoot for place in the team which will attend the Caledonian picnic.

—The principal Democratic objection to Mr. Harrison seems to be the fact that he is a grand-father. Cleveland has escaped any such accusation.—Post.

—The Carson Public Schools have sent an artistic book to the National School exhibit at San Francisco. Those who have seen it speak in the highest terms of the work.

—To most children, the bare suggestion of a dose of castor oil is nauseating. When physic is necessary for the little ones, use Ayer's Cathartic Pills. They are safe and pleasant to take. Try them.

—A Canadian Frenchman employed on the flume was thrown from it yesterday morning by an extra rush of water and falling received a fracture of the collar bone. Dr. Lee is attending to the sufferer.

—A Pinte medicine man was recently killed out in Lander county for losing too many patients. Now it turns out that they got some medicine from a white doctor, but the evidence is too late to do the Indian any good.

—The fire fiend is devastating the newspaper offices of California. Up here in Nevada newspaper offices are seldom burned they quietly subside without any of the attendant glories of a conflagration and the clutter of fire engines.

—Fortify the system, by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, against the diseases peculiar to hot weather. This medicine induces a healthy action of the stomach, liver, and kidneys, causing them to prevent the accumulation of the poisons which produce disease.

—Mayor Hewitt, of New York, says that General Harrison is "a good man, a good-looking man, a perfect gentleman and one to whom no fair-minded man can take exception." These are very nice words from a life-long Democrat. Mayor Hewitt is an able man and a good judge of a gentleman. It is noticeable that he has not complimented Cleveland in this manner. Mayor Hewitt is a truthful man.—Exchange.

Last Night's Meeting.

The Old Theater was filled last night by an enthusiastic populace who listened for an hour to Gen. Alexander's excellent speech.

It was full of sound sense and pointed hits and kept the audience in the best of humor, so much so in fact, that they protested when he left the platform. Bartine was called for but declined to speak. The meeting adjourned with all in the best of spirits and full of zeal for Harrison and Morton.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

[From our regular correspondent.]

WASHINGTON, July 6th, 1888. Senator Hoar will, on Tuesday, deliver a speech against the ratification of the fisheries treaty.

A powerful argument is confidently expected, as the Senator is thoroughly familiar with the subject.

General Harrison's father-in-law, a well preserved old gentleman nearly ninety years old, is a resident of this city, and a clerk in the Pension Bureau.

The Republican members of the Senate committee on Finance have, after consultation with their party associates in and out of Congress, fully determined upon the substitute which will be offered in the Senate for the Mills bill, which now seems almost certain of final passage by the House, though some time may yet elapse before it does. The substitute will be a model of brevity, containing only three paragraphs, one to repeal the internal revenue tax on tobacco in every form; one to repeal the internal revenue tax on alcohol used in the fine arts, and one to reduce the tariff on sugar fifty per cent.

The dangerous disposition of the present administration to encroach upon the constitutionally guaranteed rights and privileges of the legislative branch of our Government, is one of the signs of the times that is worthy of careful consideration by every friend of popular Government. The example has been set by Mr. Cleveland, and it is not surprising that the members of the cabinet should embrace every opportunity of doing likewise. The latest and one of the most glaring offenders is Postmaster General Dickenson, who wrote a letter to the Chairman of the House Committee on post-offices, in opposition to an amendment, which the Senate had adopted, to the Postoffice appropriation bill, appropriating $800,000 to provide more efficient mail service between United States and South America.

Whether this amendment is a wise one or not—although I am firmly convinced that it would be greatly beneficial to our business interests—it is not my purpose to discuss at this time. The point made is, that Postmaster General Dickenson, who is a part of the executive branch of the Government, exceeded his authority when he wrote a letter attempting—and in fact really influencing pending legislation, for the result of his letter has been that the House has refused to concur in the Senate amendment referred to. The constitution clearly defines the rights of the three great branches, the legislative, the executive and the judicial, into which the Government is divided. This administration has from its very beginning shown a desire to control both the executive and the legislative branches, and it is high time that the people should elect a President who has more respect for the constitution.

The nomination of M. W. Fuller, to be Chief Justice, has been reported to the Senate from the Judiciary Committee, without recommendation. The Republicans of that committee refused to make a favorable report, simply because they consider the mental calibre of the man too small for the great office, and owing to the absence of any proof of wrong-doing they could not make an unfavorable report. Little doubt exists of his confirmation early next week, all of the Democrats will vote for him, and at least four Republicans have expressed themselves in his favor.

Senators Sherman and Colquitt, and Representatives Butterworth, Bynum, Barrows, Steels, and Springer went to Cincinnati on the 4th to take part in the opening of the Ohio Centennial.

The Senate adjourned from Tuesday to Thursday, in order to give the members an opportunity of attending the Gettysburg celebration.

Hon. D. T. Littler, of Illinois, a member of the Pacific railroad commission in this city. He says Harrison and Morton will carry Illinois by from 25,000 to 40,000 majority. Speaking of the general situation, he said: "The situation is a nut shell is this. The Republicans have a strong Presidential candidate, but the platform is even stronger than the candidate. The tariff will be the fight. But there is going to be a good deal of "log cabin" in the campaign, a good deal of old fashioned enthusiasm, which will count for Harrison, who is sure to be elected."

The House committee on elections has decided by a strict party vote, to steal the seat occupied by Mr. Felton, of Cal., and give it to Mr. Sullivan, a Democratic free trader, so as to get another vote for the Mills bill. It remains to be seen if the Democrats of the House will be so shameless as to ratify this theft.

DESTRUCTION OF TROUT.

How They are Lost in the Carson Valley.

Parties who have visited the Carson Valley say that they never before saw such a wanton destruction of fish as can be seen there now.

The ranchers of the valley have diverted the waters of the Carson river by large irrigating ditches, and having failed to put any screens at the head of the ditches, the fish swarm in and are carried miles away from the river by the tens of thousands.

When the water is turned off the fish have no way of getting back, and perish in the fields, where they lie and rot or get into pools, where they are speared by Indians and white men.

This wanton destruction of fish could all be avoided by placing screens at the head of the ditches as the law directs, and Fish Commissioner Cary should see at once that the law is enforced, and that every man engaged in this work is prosecuted. These people should be made to understand that fish are not planted in this State to serve as fertilizers for ranches.

The State Fair.

The following circular has been issued:

The next State Fair will be held at Reno, commencing September 17th and ending September 22d, inclusive. As in the past, the Board of Directors will make the Pavilion a grand feature of the occasion. Therefore you are most respectfully invited to apply for space and make such display in your line of business as you desire.

This invitation is particularly extended to Manufacturers, Merchants, Farmers, Mechanics, Miners, and every industry in the State of Nevada.

In the Ladies' Fancy Work Department we expect a magnificent display.

We desire to say to all: Apply for space at the Pavilion as soon as you make up your mind what you are going to exhibit. When on exhibition your articles will be carefully guarded and returned.

Send applications for space to
P. H. MULCAHY,
Superintendent of Pavilion,
